

UBSNA announces the release of Docstar Eclipse – powered by Microsoft SharePoint Technology.

New York - NY, December 05, 2007 – Universal Business Solutions - widely acknowledged as the premier solutions provider in the United States announces the release of its eagerly anticipated next generation product, docSTAR Eclipse, powered by Microsoft SharePoint technology. docSTAR Eclipse is an on-demand ASP document management solution that captures, manages and preserves documents in an ultra-intuitive user interface. The new platform leverages 11 years of experience, serving thousands of customers with document management technology.

docSTAR Eclipse provides companies with an affordable, secure document management solution. The Eclipse service does not require specialized hardware to manage and no up-front capital investment. docSTAR Eclipse allows remote access from any PC with Internet connection, from anywhere in the world. Designed with enterprise customers in mind, docSTAR Eclipse flexibly and affordably meets the needs of small office environments.

docSTAR Eclipse offers users an extremely familiar, easy to use interface. Incorporating a task bar navigation panel, similar to MS Outlook, docSTAR Eclipse users quickly scan, import, process, and retrieve documents. Additionally, docSTAR Eclipse users quickly and easily search for documents, organize their workflow, and better share their information with others. “Our hosted document management solution offers businesses a practical, affordable, easy-to-implement solution that virtually eliminates the on-going purchase, installation, upgrading, and maintenance of hardware and software,” Franceski continues, “Because docSTAR Eclipse is an ASP solution, our customers no longer are burdened with technology acquisition or maintenance and we have the ability to add new product features quickly and without disruption.”

docSTAR utilizes a secure off-site Data Center for docSTAR Eclipse, equipped with state-of-the-art security, redundancy and internet connectivity the site delivers performance and peace of mind.
